I am the proud owner and manager of Midas Auto Service on Fordham Road. It has been a family-run business for over 50 years, since 1970, and is currently in its second generation. I am a married father of two, living in Rockland County, however I am in the Belmont community almost every day and consider it to be my second home. I love the atmosphere of the neighborhood, especially around the holiday season when the holiday lights are switched on. I am proud to have a business in a tight-knit neighborhood. I have served on the board of directors for the Belmont Business Improvement District since its inception. I like to have my voice heard – especially as it relates to Fordham Road, an integral part of the community. In the next five years I would like to see the neighborhood decrease its already low vacancy rate and have an abundance of quality businesses for the people that live, work, and visit our authentic community.
